Monday Eve.

Dear Mom & all,

I thought I would write a few lines to write and send this menu that "Bub" sent to me. I received this from him today and it was post marked the 25th Dec. Quite a dinner but he didn't get all that was on the menu only the ones checked and what he wrote in. Don't imagine it was too good either, at least I wouldn't like some of the stuff very well.

How is every body around there? From what I hear you got some snow over the week end. We got 4 or 5 inches here and it got pretty cold thru last nite and was pretty cold all day to day.

Guess we have all our training now and suppose to start work in depot wed. Guess we have a test or some thing to marrow to see if we learned anything in our training so far. Least that's what I hear, we have a test.

I would write more often but "Joan" can tell you every thing. I can hardly think of any thing to write her cause its always the same thing. So long for now
Love Guy
