

BOOK BY DR. BRADLEY PUBLISHED RECENTLY

"The Story of the Santa Fe" by Dr. Bradley is a book which traces the history of the Santa Fe railroad from the day of its beginning when it followed the old Santa Fe trail with the wagon wheels of 1811 over the company owned and controlled 11,200 miles of railroad. This the imagination and the history of a few leaders, according to the book, the Santa Fe has grown into a today one of the world's greatest railroad systems.

Four Great Leaders.—Four men are given credit for much of the growth of the Santa Fe. They are Cyrus K. Hays, who led the project, and William B. Strong, who led the project, and William B. Strong, who led the project, and William B. Strong, who led the project.

Developed Industrial Empire.—The Santa Fe railroad added an industrial empire to the United States. It has been the backbone for the economic development, and permanent prosperity of the greater portion of the vast region of the southwestern part of the United States.

The subject for discussion at the San meeting of the Salamanca Club, Wednesday, April 24, will be "The Choice of the Particular Kind of Salamanca Best Adapted to the Individual."

SALESMANSHIP CLASS MEETS WITH CONFERENCE

A series of conferences have been arranged for the three concluding meetings of the Salamanca Club of which four hundred to five hundred members of the club will be present to take part in the discussion.

Change in Meeting of Ad. Class.—Instead of being the Advertising Class in the regular Thursday, Mr. Ward Caudy, the instructor, has arranged for this week's meeting to be Friday evening, April 23, at the second period.

Sports at Harvard were conducted on a scale of a big meet, this week according to reports.

By 3 o'clock of 2000 to 10,000 of the year, President Roosevelt adopted the honor system.

CAN THE COLLEGE PROFESSOR SURVIVE

RECENT ARTICLES CONSIDER THE QUESTION OF SALARIES FOR PROFESSORS

"Can the college professor survive?" is the most important question introduced in an article by Dr. Carl Hays in the March issue of "The Nation". The reason for the question, the article explains, is such as concerns the recent application of a large group of professors at the University of Illinois for entrance into the American Federation of Labor, and the formation of a union among the considerable number of the faculty of Harvard.

Business Gimm.—A comparative list of statistics is given. Among the facts thus disclosed are that the average salary of all the American college teachers is $29.25 per week, and that this average is not so high as the average salary paid by state institutions; that the average salary of a college professor is receiving a considerable salary; that the average salary of a college professor is receiving a considerable salary.

CONCERNING T. U. CREDITS
"There is no questioning of Toledo University's credit at Ohio State," said one of the former T. U. men who were attending Ohio State, when asked by some of the students here why they took work at that institution.
