FOR RELEASE UPON RECEIPT

Letters to some 14,000 new and continuing students at The University of Toledo are being sent this week from the office of Dr. William S. Carlson, UT president. The letters point out that House Bill 1219--passed by the last session of the Ohio General Assembly--goes into effect on September 16.

Along with the letter from President Carlson, students will receive an analysis of the provisions of the new law by Dr. John D. Millett, chancellor of the Ohio Board of Regents.

The new law provides for suspension or dismissal of students, faculty, staff and administrators of state-assisted colleges and universities who engage in certain forms of campus disorder. The law also defines activities for which a student, faculty member or other employee might be suspended or dismissed, and outlines procedures for conducting hearings.

In his letter, President Carlson said: "Let me assure you of the University's recognition of the rights of freedom of speech and of peaceful assembly, and its desire to identify valid grievances and to correct them....I am convinced that with your cooperation and understanding it is possible to resolve issues by our own processes without resort to laws that require us to put the control of the University into the hands of others."

Copies of the analysis by Dr. Millett also will be distributed to University administrators and faculty and staff members with University payroll checks to be issued on September 18.
