COLLEGE'S PLANS ON DISPLAY — The Medical College of Ohio, which begins classes in September, Saturday showed area legislators and officials what has been accomplished to date and what is planned in the future. Dr. Glidden Brooks, president, right, shows State Reps. Barney Quilter, left, and Donald Fraser an architect's model of the first building

signed for the permanent South Toledo campus, an $8.5 million health science laboratory and classroom facility. College officials hope construction can begin next year. The reception was in the college's temporary headquarters at William Roche Memorial Hospital, and included tours of the new, temporary laboratory adjacent to the hospital.

Medical College To Get $532,000

Blade Columbus Bureau

COLUMBUS—The state controlling board today released $532,000 for the purchase of movable scientific equipment at the Medical College of Ohio.

Equipment is to be purchased for the departments of biochemistry, pathology, medicine, and obstetrics and gynecology, and the library.
