

September 10, 1982

James W. Denny, Jr.:

The spectacular Haj Terminal Fabric Roof will stand for years as a visible symbol of your accomplishments. Completed ahead of schedule and within budget, this project confirms the importance of careful and thorough planning and a consistent dedication to the many tasks required to complete this complex structure.

For your extra effort during this project, we are pleased to present you with The Saker Falcon award. The falcon is highly prized in Saudi Arabia for its noble presence. It will serve as a constant reminder of your spirited contribution to this famous Saudi project. We hope it will also promote a new personal standard of dedication and excellence.

We thank you for your individual contribution to this great team effort. We are convinced that the Haj Terminal Fabric Roof project will become the foundation for a successful construction business in Saudi Arabia.

R. B. Kline

L. W. Saxby

W. W. Boeschstein